Part A – How To Earn \$100 Today Itself!

Part B – How To Earn \$100 Every Day Over The Long Term!

What is the super system that can let you earn up to $100 everyday from the Internet?

It's possible and there is no magic to it.

All it takes is some work and using some of the already available resources in the Internet. You are on to your $100-A-Day from this moment on.

To start, you don't need a penny extra. All it takes is your computer, an internet connection and some common sense – and I believe, you already have these ready with you.

You also need to have a word processor, but if you don't have one, you can get robust and free one from Open Office.

Before I proceed further, let's be clear on some thing.

- This report is NOT about making money from eBay
- It's not about some shady fly-by-night MLM outfit
- It's not about Adsense or making your own products

This report is all about picking a good chunk of pocket changes that is for you to take – if you are willing.

Let's briefly touch upon a few basics...

1. You need a Paypal account. If you don't have an account set one up for free. Most of your payments are going come through Paypal
2. You need an account with Craigslist. Its free. You will be using Craiglist a lot in this program.
3. Finally an account at US Freeads. Again free and you will be using it to place your ads.

It should not take more than an hour to complete these three tasks which means you have another 23 more hours to go before you see your first hundred dollars on the first day itself!

Still with me ☺?

Side Note: If you thinking of selling your own product and/or an affiliate product for a commission, we will talk about them in more detail in Part B.

Part A: How To Earn $100 Today Itself!

Write Your Way To Money...

Before you say that "I Can't Write" Problem',

Let's put things in perspective. Many say that, "Oh man! Write articles? Me? Impossible."

Writing for the web is actually a different story. All you need to do is to write simple short sentences and usually an article length is about 200-800 words. And here we are talking about writing articles for the web.

Let move on...if you know the alphabets and a few English words.

Ghostwriting articles: Write for others for a pay! More than your writing talent, your organizing ability and how quickly you can research and dig out quality content is called for here. You must have the ability to summarize the main points and then write clear article based on them with correct grammar and spelling. The spelling part is usually taken care of by your word processor and as you are writing in short sentences, a high school grammar will more than suffice.

The article length can vary from 200 words to 1000 words or more. Payment is usually by the word. For beginners, a 500 word article can be sold for about $5.00. Accomplished ghostwriters charge up to $30 for a 500 word article.

The client gives you the topic and any key words that must be included in the article. How long it takes to write the article is dependent upon how much you already know about the topic and how quickly you can find the materials you need to research the topic.

It is possible, working at a steady pace, to write ten 400-500 word articles in one day. That's $100 at $5 per article.

Here are two resources where you can announce your services.

1. Digital Point
2. The Warrior Forum

Digital Point have threads where people offer their services for sale. You can post an offer at no cost on Digital Point but you have to have been a member and have 15 posts to your name in order to do so. Warrior Forum also requires that you have been a member for awhile and there is a fee to post a and, Warrior Special Offers (WSOs).

However, you can still earn money through these boards.

Join both of these groups. Scan the posts on the WSO thread and the Buy-Sell-Trade board at Digital Point.

Tip: Make a note of people who are asking questions about the services currently offered while you are at these boards, or who have said they've bought the service. Do this by the private message function on both boards, not by posting on the thread.

It's time to extend your Ghostwriting services to a larger arena. Simultaneously begin Placing ads on Craigslist and US Freeads offering your service.

Post Your Way To Real Dollars...

Post on forums: Forum users don't want to participate in forum discussions unless there are already posts. So new forum owners pay people to post comments, start threads, and respond to other threads in an effort to get some forum action going.

There's probably a forum for just about any subject. Usually a paid poster has to have at least some knowledge of the subject to post relevant comments. There can be a minimum word count for the posts.

Posts of "I agree," "Me too," and "Thanks for the info," are too short and don't add anything to the discussion, so forum owners don't want to pay for them. Posting on forums doesn't pay a lot, perhaps as little as 10 posts for a dollar. Find the jobs on Internet marketing related websites like Digital Forum.

Post on blogs: You can be paid to post comments on blogs much the same way you can be paid to post on forums. Pretty much the same criteria applies, the posts can't be too short and have to be relevant to the subject matter.

You can search for offers of 5 posts for a dollar. If each post takes a minute you would have to work a little over 8 hours to make $100.

Place ads on Craigslist and US Freeads offering your service.

Content Writing for A Pay....

There are sites that pay for content. Most of the sites require that you post your content first and wait for a buyer to come by to purchase your articles.

AssociatedContent is a good site to target on. The pay is $3 to $5 per 500 word article. There are occasions where Associated Content has paid up to $50 per article. The articles can be submitted on an exclusive basis, meaning they aren't and won't be posted anywhere else, or nonexclusive, which means you've used the article elsewhere.

It takes a day or two for Associated Content to review the article and make the offer. You can withdraw the article if you are not satisfied. It takes another two days for the article to be published and then two or three days for Associated Content to make the payment to you.

Again, Place your ads on Craigslist and US Freeads offering your service.

Here are some Websites that pay for articles:

constant-content
helium
lifetips
howtodothings
shvoong.com
articlewarehouse.com
authorconnection.com

Another way to earn from your content is through sites that share their revenue with authors. You get paid a share of the earnings of the ads that show up with your article. The more popular your article, the more views, the more revenue you can earn.

Websites that share ad revenue with writers:

flixya.com
daytipper.com
chacha.com
metacafe.com
vume.com
hubpages.com

Pay Per Sale, Affiliate Programs, and Commissions

It simply means you are selling others products for a large commission.

Most of them are digital products like videos, an ecourse, software, or ebook. Quite a few of the affiliate products pay more than a 50% commission. Some even pay up to 80%! Some product owners even offer banners, buttons, sales copy, and even articles that you can use to promote with.

Clickbank is one of the most established programs. Commission Junction is another source. Both of these make the payments to the affiliates so you don't have to worry whether the product owner will pay. PayDotCom is a program which uses PayPal as the payment method. The product owner makes the decision to pay the affiliates and has to authorize PayDotCom to do so.

Many products offer their own affiliate program independently. Look for one with a solid history of payment.

You can also become an affiliate of amazon.com to sell books and consumer products such as jewelry, televisions, whatever. The percentage commission is much lower, but sometimes the retail price is high enough to make up for it.

The fastest way to make money selling affiliate products is to think about the forums, lists and discussion groups you already belong to. What are the questions being asked? Is there a problem that people need a solution for? What are the hot topics?

Here's a good way to find good products and earn from them.

1. Set up an affiliate account at Clickbank
2. Go to Clickbank Product Finder (free resource) and search for products that will solve the problems, or answer to the questions being discussed.
3. Now set up a blog or Squidoo pages that relate to the affiliate programs.
4. Now post an informative response to these questions in the forums and include your Squidoo affiliate product page in your response.
5. A softer sell is to post a review of the product on your blog and then post a response to the list/discussion forum stating that you've reviewed the product and they can find out more on your blog.

You will probably need to make 3 to 4 sales to earn $100 in commissions.

Be Your Own Product Owner...

This is the way you can make real money on the Internet. But the question is: Can you do it in 24 hours?

It would be very difficult to research a niche or market, decide what need is hottest and that you have the knowledge for, write the report, write the ad copy or sales letter, set up a blog/website/Squidoo page and then market the report.

In the real world in real time, it's not feasible in 24 hours!

What you can do while you're working on different ways to make $100 in 24 hours is jot down ideas that cross your mind and use this as the basis for a product. When you have the time you can start developing it.

You can develop a short report, 2500 words or so, a long report, 2500 to 5000 words, or an ebook, 7500 words and up. You could also develop an ecourse that's a combination of emails, an ebook, chats, and perhaps conference calls.

Blog Your Way to Big Bucks...

Blogging is a website (don't worry no website skills needed) that you update every day with posts about your chosen subject. Visitors can comment on your posts for others to see.

Using your blog as a billboard: Many websites will pay you to post product reviews on your blog. The products can range from consumer durable goods, consumable goods, or just about anything you can think of. The blog has to be approved by the company and has to remain up for a specified length of time. There usually has to be a qualifying statement that your post is a paid advertisement.

Use your blog as a review site to promote affiliate products: Use your blog is to post product reviews of affiliate products. When someone buys the product you're paid a commission. You can post reviews of books you've read that are available on amazon.com or Clickbank products.

Ads on your blog: If your blog has somewhat of a following in a certain niche and gets a reasonable amount of traffic, you can use pay per click (PPC) ads to generate some revenue. The more traffic to your blog, the higher the potential for click throughs, the more money you can earn. AdSense by Google is a very popular PPC company but there are others.

Side Note: At the time of writing this, a new advertising service has come up Pay-Per-Play \(PPP\) backed by one of the Top 5 major search engines. The beauty here is that Publishers (website owners) will earn revenue on 100% of their traffic... no clicks necessary! Yep, 100% conversion of your web traffic, no clicks required and its free.

Here are some free sites where you can quickly and easily start your own blogs.

1. Live Journal
2. Blogger
3. Wordpress.com

Pick a market niche you're familiar with and name it as the topic for your blog. Every day post to your blog. Of course that's not all you need to do.

You also need to drive traffic to your blog. You need people to see it and read it.

Most of the blog sites are searchable by keywords. Search on the same words you've used for your site to find other blogs. Then leave a comment on the relevant blogs and include your link to your own blog.

Tip: Comment Sniper is a nice free tool that you can use to find blogs in your target group and help you post to them. Post your blog comments to a new blog post, the instant it is posted for the initial advantage! You can download Comment Sniper from here.

You can submit your blog's url to search engines and blog directories. Blog Submitter Pro is a software that can help you to submit to blog directories. But it is not free.

With a little bit of research and time you can become successful and increase your bank account with Online Marketing just by blogging.

Get paid to blog: Another way to make money is to blog for others. Write your opinion about people's products, services and websites on your blog. Get paid weekly.

Here are some such sites that pays to blog.

1. bloggerwave.com
2. bloggingads.com
3. blogsvertise.com
4. blogburst.com
5. blogtopprofit.com
6. buyablogger.com
7. linkworth.com
8. loudlaunch.com
9. payperpost.com
10. payu2blog.com
11. reviewme.com
12. smorty.com
13. sponsoredreview.com

Submitting Links to Articles, Websites and Blogs to Social Networking Sites.

You can make money by submitting links to other people's profiles, articles, etc. through social networking sites.

The pay isn't terrific, usually no more than a couple of dollars per article. You'll have to set up an account at each site. Below is a list to get you started. With a bit of research you can find quite a few more.

Offer the service on Digital Point and warrior forum the same as you would offer to ghost write articles. Setting up the accounts at the social networking sites will probably take a couple of hours.

If each article takes 20 minutes to post at all the social networking sites and you charge $4 for the service. You'd earn $12 an hour and would have to work a little over 10 hours to earn $100.

You need your client to tell you the url of the article/website, title, brief description or first paragraph of the article, category, and tags or keywords.

Social Networking sites

1. Facebook
2. blinklist.com
3. stumbleupon.com
4. gnolia.com
5. linkagogo.com
6. wink.com
7. digg.com
8. technorati.com
9. newsvine.com
10. furl.net
11. backflip.com
12. spurl.net
13. netvouz.com
14. diigo.com
15. rawsugar.com
16. shadows.com
17. del.icio.us
18. bluedot.us

That sums Part A. If you follow the above suggestions, you can really earn $100-A-Day if you work at it.

Do Not Pay Anyone To Write Or Submit Your Articles For You... Anymore!

Head Over To...Mass Article Control Now!

Let's move on to Part B.

Brought To You By
<http://www.learnhombusiness.com>

Part B: How To Earn $100 Every Day Over The Long Term.

This will take some time to get set up and get going. The aim here is to earn $100-every day... continually! It also involves spending some money here and there.

Again, never forget to post appropriate put ads on Craigslist and US Freeads about your product or service you're offering.

Leveraging On Squidoo Lenses

Squidoo is a place where you can get a free one page - but it can be a very long one page – website. These pages are called squidoo lens and you first need to do some research on key words before setting up. Trust me this is important.

So be ready with 4 or 5 key word phrases. Pop them in Google and see what competition you're up against. You can also go to Goggle's adword keyword generator. Use the tab keyword variations, enter your key words and then hit the "get more key words" tab underneath.

Pick out eight to ten key word phrases, these will be your tags.

1. Now go to Squidoo.com and get yourself a lens using your key word phrase as the name of the lens.
2. Set up your bio in your bio module and link to your product or website in that module.
3. Now write a 250 to 500 word essay using your key word phrase at least three times. The essay should be relevant to your product or niche.
4. In the essay link to your product, affiliate product and/or to your website. You might want to use a teaser phrase to encourage people to click on the link.
5. Add a poll and an amazon module, then add another text module with links to your other products or affiliate products.
6. Add a google news feed module. Then another text module and finally end with a guestbook.

This may sound complicated but all the modules are clearly explained and it's really a matter of point and click to populate your lens with interesting products.

You can earn money from your lens through the different modules and their products, such as books from amazon.com, from products that you're an affiliate for and from your own products.

You can put up a lens for each one of your key word phrases and then link them together.

Google AdSense Other PPC Programs

Google through their Adsense program, offers paid advertising through the use of text linked ads placed on websites. These ads can also be placed on blogs.

Advertisers hope to subvert visitors to click on the text ad and visit their own websites through these text linked ads. The advertisers pay Google for every visitor that clicks through. Google passes on some of the money to the owner of the websites where the click originated.

This is know as PPC or pay per click. Savvy Internet marketers build websites on topics that have a high PPC with the sole purpose of earning money.

A better philosophy for the long term is to make the site content rich to attract visitors and establish a level of trust. The visitor feels comfortable and when they've found the information they needed they are more likely to click on one of the text based ads.

How much money can you earn with AdSense?

It depends on the topic of your website, your key word usage and your traffic. People look for all sorts of information on the Internet. Quite a bit of the time they're looking for a solution to a problem or how-to-do something. If your website addresses those issues, the odds are it will make more money than a generic site.

You have to have a website already up and running before you apply for AdSense. They are accepting blogs for AdSense revenue as well. Once you get one blog or website approved you can add the AdSense to your other sites/blogs without additional approval.

Brought To You By
<http://www.learnhombusiness.com>

Once you're approved you have your choice of style and size of ad. You don't have to do any of the coding. You do have to know how to incorporate the code on your website or blog. It's not difficult. You can track how much money you're making nearly in real time.

Side Note: At the time of writing this, a new advertising service has come up Pay-Per-Play \(PPP\) backed by one of the Top 5 major search engines. The beauty here is that Publishers (website owners) will earn revenue on 100% of their traffic... no clicks necessary! Yep, 100% conversion of your web traffic, no clicks required and its free.

Use Forums and Discussion Groups

Make it a point to join forums and discussion groups that relate to your website/blog/squidoo page. Search sites like Yahoo Groups and Google Groups for groups that are relevant. You can also search for discussion groups by subject matter. Type in the search engines +discussion +groups +mothers +young +children, for example.

Also find websites that relate to your website that have forums. There's a huge forum for writers at AbsoluteWrite.com, for example. Many online publications on your topic will have forums as well.

Join these discussion groups. In your profile make sure you keep your signature short and sweet but do include a one sentence description of your site/blog/squidoo lens and a link.

When questions come up, or the conversation focuses on your topic, post a short answer and then mention there is an article or suggestion that would be helpful to the members at your site and give the link. Of course don't spam the members or just post one or two word answers, like "thank you" or "I agree" just to post.

Social Networking Sites

Keep in mind the word networking is a verb, and that means action.

Go to Myspace and set up a profile that reflects the product/website/affiliate product you want to sell. Keep the profile fun and interesting. You can also use the blog at Myspace to update your profile.

Visit my profile at Myspace.com to get an idea.

You can add photos, videos from YouTube, and games to your profile. Then search for friends using your key words to find people interested in your product. Say you have a golf product, search for golfers. You can also join the forums at Myspace and look for friends that way.

The advantage of having friends is that you can then send bulletins to your friends that will automatically be posted at their Myspace profile and seen by all their friends. If you have 100 friends and they each have 100 friends, one of your bulletins can potentially be seen by 10,000 people.

Ryze is social networking that leans a little more toward business. Again set up your profile with your links, then look for groups to join. The groups should be relevant to your website or products. Most groups have active discussions going on. Answer questions, ask questions and contribute to the discussion.

There are lots of other social networking sites you can join. Every day spend a few minutes visiting each of your site's network.

Niche Marketing

Niche marketing is a buzz word and it simply means marketing to a small niche rather than a broad market. For example: Your blog is about cures for sinus headaches, that's very broad.

A narrower niche would be natural cures for sinus headaches and an even narrower niche is natural herbal cures for sinus headaches. The logic is that there are fewer blogs/websites competing for the very narrow niche than the much broader topic.

There will be fewer people searching for natural herbal cures for sinus headaches but more of them will be ready to buy a product or click on an AdSense ad.

BUM Marketing

Bum marketing is simply using articles you've written to drive traffic to a blog/website/squidoo page you've set up that sells an affiliate product, or your own product. It's an innovation on article marketing that allows even bums to earn. These articles are written in a special way to create the most effective money making effect.

The article is submitted to article directories and includes a bio box that has a little bit about you and the link to your blog/website/squidoo page.

The tricks to BUM Marketing are very simple.

1. Use keywords in the title of your article and in the article itself so people searching for those keywords will find your article on the major search engines. Make sure that these keywords hav low competition in the search engine results.

2. Make the article informative and interesting, but leave the readers wanting more. Use the words in your key phrase that actually leads to a sale!
 3. Include a real teaser in your bio box that entices the reader to click on the link to your website/blog. Spend some time on get the right teaser.
 4. Write enough articles using those keywords.

How much article is enough?

A rule of thumb is one article per day for the first month. It doesn't have to be long articles but short ones ranging from 400 to 600 words per article.

Then submit them to article directories!

And keep repeating the process!
